PEST CONTROL - GARDEN ANTS, CAFÉ BISTRO, BRISTOL

THE PROBLEM

A café in the heart of Bristol was suffering from a severe invasion of Ants. In May the Owner started to notice Ants entering into the kitchen and dining area of the café. This was causing much concern, especially as customers had started to comment about the Ants unwanted presence.

The Owner knew she needed to act immediately to call in a Local Pest Control company to deal with her Ant infestation. Within twenty four hours of the Owner contacting Protectahome our experienced, BPCA accredited Technician was on site to deal with the problem.

THE SOLUTION

It was important for the Technician to identify the species responsible for the infestation before treatment was carried out, early identification can enable a targeted control program to be deployed.

Once it was established that the Ants were Garden Ants, we started treatment immediately. The Technician strategically placed discrete bait stations in areas where we expected to intercept the foraging Ants, the aim being the workers would carry bait back to the colony.

Our Technician traced Ants back to a Nest which was located by the back door of the Kitchen. As it was safe to do so, we exposed the Nest and applied an appropriate insecticidal powder to the Nest.

To help prevent further problems with Ants and many other pest species, we always offer advice to cover food, to clear away any spillage's immediately, ensure there is no food debris left on the floor and under appliances and to ensure that bins are covered with a tight seal. A few days later we went back to the Café to ensure the efficacy of the treatment. Our client was very pleased with the results and we were thanked for our professional and discrete service.
